THE FLAMING TORCH.

When President Wilson informed Congress, at the opening session that demobilization was practically completed he passed on to civilian communities the task of carrying-on in the work progressing with splendid headway in the eradication of venereal diseases.

Literally the army has dropped "The Flaming Torch" in the pathway of this city and State. We must carry-on and show the Public Health Service and Army that their fight was not in vain, and very largely, also, must we plan now to go it alone. The splendid work of officers of the Public Health Service, of army surgeons, the Commission on Training Camp Activities and the war powers for control of vice about cantonnments is about finished.

The time has come when a decision must be reached to go forward, or about face and down the hill to the old conditions which revealed an infection rate among the young men of the nation as high as 27 in every hundred in some instances. Surely the demand for efficiency and the urge for clean living is as high in our industries and our homes as in the army, and if the army found it necessary to defeat venereal diseases before it could break the Hindenburg line the same thing must be accomplished here before we can catch up with the forward stride.

Fortunately the time is ripe. Congress wisely supplied funds for the United States Public Health Service to carry the fight to the civilian communities with the same determination to win that characterized the work of the combined forces. All the facilities of this national health agency will be placed at the disposal of this community if the people only do their part.

It is only necessary for the State to pass approved legislation for the control of venereal diseases and for the different cities to bolster this with enforcing ordinances. Then the Public Health Service will cooperate with the State and the city Board of Health and stay in the fight until definite results are obtained.

The United States Government today is just as anxious to eradicate venereal diseases as it was on the day when it was discovered that more than anything else they were obstructing the efficiency of the fighting machine. But the Federal Government can't do it all. The States and the cities must do their full share.

With the completion of demobilization, practically reached, the great fight has come home to us. Will we carry-on?

"Good-bye little bar room don't you cry. You'll be a drug store bye and bye." Such is the wall of the man who one time tarried long at the wine.

CELEBRATION OF EMANCIPATION PROCLAMATION.

Fifty-four years ago, the immortal Emancipation Proclamation was signed forcing more than four million of blacks from shackles of slavery since which time Negroes of various states have celebrated the overthrow of this inhuman practice.

In other cities south of Mason and Dixie line celebrate January 1st.

The slaves of Texas in 1865 were notified of their freedom on June 19th and thus commemoration of this day in Texas stands as a historic event toward their freedom.

The day will be celebrated in Dallas, Thursday, June 19th at Fair Park.

All concessions at the grounds will be open for the entertainment of the visitors.

There will be in connection bicycle, motorcycle and other racing events on the track which will be under the supervision of A. R. Fryer. Tickets will be on sale at Grand Stand. Plenty of food stuff will be furnished on the grounds and also drinkables.

MT. MORIAH BAPTIST CHURCH.

The Bible Club Meetings.

On the account of the death of the little four year old girl of Mrs. Dora Wilson, sister to Bro. W. A. Lott. We were unable to get our reports to the press in time for publication. The Excelsior Mutual Benefit Insurance Company spacious, by and with great accuracy and promptness, cared for the remains together with Mr. Guntar as undertaker. We extend to them our most hearty thanks, for their prompt and accurate attention given in such an hour of grief. I wish to correct a statement which appeared last week, that Rev. W. A. Lott was pastor of the Mt. Moriah church. I am not the pastor, but the reporter of the club. Rev. Dr. A. L. Boone is conducting a great revival at Lincoln Manor. Great singing, praying and preaching. Saints are being revived back sliders reclaimed, sinners are being saved, come over and help us. Yours for Christ, W. A. LOTT, Reporter.
